

Historical Profile of VMC Congregations

The listings below have been researched by the Historical Committee of Virginia Mennonite Conference and verified by printed reports in the annual issues of the Mennonite Yearbook and Directory, to which they had access since their beginning in 1905, as well as Virginia Mennonite Conference annual report booklets. It is acknowledged that the Yearbook and Directory may have some mistakes, but it is the basic documentary source.

Only those congregations that have demonstrated active membership are listed. Quite a few will be recognized as preaching points, particularly schoolhouses, but are included if a membership was listed in the Yearbook and Directory. A significant number of churches had name changes during their history with original name listed under the current name. For example, Chicago Avenue is listed under Harrisonburg Mennonite.
